DYE SUBLIMATION

/ WHAT IS SUBLIMATION?

Sublimation employs a printing process that utilizes heat to transfer dye into fabric. Solid colors or highly detailed images are printed with dye-sublimation inks on to specialized transfer paper. Then the printed-paper and blank fabric are processed through a large format press under high heat and pressure. The heat releases the dye from the paper and fuses it with the fabric. The end result of the sublimation is fabric colored with extremely detailed images and vibrant colors. Screen-printing allows the ink to set on top of the fabric; Sublimated ink becomes part of the fabric and cannot be felt by hand.

/ WHY SUBLIMATION?

- Permanent Colour, no crack or peel likes traditional prints.
- No colour limits, no logo limits.
- It brings your design to life, with brilliant and bright colours.
- Designs can be printed over the entire garment.

/ WHY BOCINI?

- Low minimum order start from 10 pieces.
- Australian company owned foreign factories, quick turnaround with quality assurance.
- Wide range of styles and stock fabrics selection.
- Offshore price, local supplier and hassle free.
