FIT STYLES FOR STENCIL GARMENTS

POLO AND SHIRTING

In addition to half-chest measurements, our Polo and Woven shirts now also list a 'fit' style to help you choose elements that better suit your organisation's uniform requirements. There are four main styles of fit, as shown below.

Easy Fit

A slightly relaxed fit with generous measurements and ample room to move.

Modern Fit

A contemporary fit designed to flatter the wearer, with slight tapering through the waist.

TOP AND SHIRTING

Semi-Fitted

Gently shaped through the torso. Follows the contours of the body for ease of movement. Go one size up for an easier fit.

Tailored Fit

With carefully placed darts and seams, our tailored fit garments will accentuate your figure to create an elegant silhouette.

MEASURING TIPS FOR STENCIL® GARMENTS

IMPORTANT: half-chest measurements throughout this catalogue reflects finished garment dimensions, not 'to fit' sizing. Please take this into consideration when ordering.

CHEST

Measure your chest from right under your armpits. Make sure that the highest point of your chest and your shoulder blades are included in the measurement.

SLEEVES & BACK LENGTH

With your arm hanging slightly bent & relaxed, measure from the point of your shoulder down to your wrist. For the length of the garment, measure from neck seam to hem.

NECK

Measure the base of your neck, or take a measurement from a collared shirt that fits well. Pressing the collar flat, take your measurement from the centre of the button to the end of the button hole.

GARMENT STYLES & SIZING

Different garments are designed to offer different fits. Some have a loose profile, while others are trimmed in around the waist and have structured shoulders.

Garment sizing varies between brands and styles.

The best way to ensure a good fit is to go by your physical measurements - not your current shirt size. To get the perfect size, lay your favourite shirt flat on a table and measure the chest. By selecting a size that is close to your favourite shirt's measurements, you will ensure a good fit. All measurements are within a tolerance of 1 - 1.5 cm.

WASHING

Remember that Cotton garments can shrink as much as five percent! This is especially important for sleeve lengths and neck fittings. For the best results, always follow the care instructions sewn inside your garment.

Male models wear size medium.

Female models wear size 10.

STENCIL[®] INDENT ORDERING

Indent is a term used for Custom Factory Orders, developed and manufactured to your company's requirements in our overseas facilities.

Because your order is being custom-made, indent ordering gives you access to decoration features and techniques that aren't available with the usual stock items. We can even create custom fabrics, special colours and garment designs on request.

If you need a logo or other detail on your new garments, Stencil can help with that as well. We provide printing, embroidery and transfer services undertaken by the original supplier during manufacture – giving you more options for placement, size and colour than with pre-assembled clothing.

With a near-limitless combination of fabric, design and decoration options, indent is ideal for companies who are willing to plan ahead to get the right result. Speak to one of our sales representatives to learn how indent ordering can fulfil your company's specific needs.

The minimum order quantity for indent orders varies from product to product, but can be as low as 400 units of the same colour (e.g. 400 mens, 400 womens, or 200 mens + 200 womens) from any one range in this catalogue. The lead times so please contact your Representative for more information.

FAQS

WHAT IS A UPF RATING?

A UPF rating shows how effective fabrics are at blocking out the sun's rays and reducing a person's UVR (Ultraviolet Radiation) exposure.

All fabrics have some ability to block UVR, but laboratory testing is needed to tell how useful different fabrics are for sun protection by measuring the Ultraviolet Protection Factor or 'UPF' rating of the fabric.

WHICH FABRICS HAVE THE HIGHEST UPF RATING?

Synthetic fibres such as polyester, lycra, nylon, and acrylic are more protective than bleached cottons? The tighter the knit or weave, the smaller the holes and the less UV can get through.

CAN THE UPF RATING VARY WITH DIFFERENT COLOURS OF THE SAME FABRIC?

Yes they can. Darker colours tend to absorb more UV which helps reduce exposures than lighter colours, but bright colours such as red can also substantially absorb UV rays. The more vivid the colour, the greater the protection.

Some pale coloured fabrics, including white can offer good protection. Some pale coloured fabrics, including white can offer good protection if the weave, material, weight, etc. are effective at keeping out UV.

Ethical Statement

At Stencil, we aim to minimise both the consumption of raw materials and the quantity of clothing consigned to landfill by producing hard-wearing quality garments designed with consideration and concern for the environment.

While we are expanding our range of garments with fabrics specifically developed for their eco-friendly qualities and manufacturing characteristics, we continue to preference plant derived synthetics and natural fibres across all our collections, and will continue to increase the proportion of organic materials used in our supply line.

We recognise this is a starting point and continue to head towards greater levels of environmental responsibility with each passing year.

An aerial photograph of a dense forest. A light-colored, unpaved road curves through the middle of the image, separating two sections of the forest. The trees are a mix of evergreen and deciduous, with varying shades of green. The lighting suggests a bright day, with some shadows cast by the trees.

WE TAKE OUR SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY SERIOUSLY
WITH OUR 3-STEP APPROACH:

1. ETHICAL SOURCING

Printec aim to increase our use of innovative and sustainable materials such as Sorona, Coffee grounds and Recycled plastics to produce soft, functional and quality garments designed with consideration and concern for the environment.

2. CARBON FOOTPRINT

Production of raw materials requires 30% less energy to produce compared to non-renewables and much less water than conventional cotton.

3. THE AFTERLIFE

By choosing better quality and bio degradable apparel, you are contributing to the reduction of landfill as they have a longer lifespan.
